Course Description

This course provides an introduction to law in Canada and British Columbia as it intersects with the practice of Social Work. We will explore some of the many critical perspectives on law, the legal system and the legal processes that interact with our professional practice. In this course, students will become familiar with the legal process, legal research and legal analysis. This course will introduce students to and examine basic legal principles in relationship to social work. We will study the impacts of judicial decision making and the role of social work and legal ethics as well as the cultures of both professions. Since this course is an introduction to these concepts, only a few areas of law will be examined. These will include human rights; criminal and youth justice; child welfare; adoption; marriage and divorce; mental health, poverty; immigration; disability; and substitute decision-making.

Format of the course: seminar format combined with lecture and guest speakers

Course Policies:

✦ Students who miss more than 3 classes may be refused the right to hand in a final assignment. Attendance sheets must be signed during each class.

✦ Academic Dishonesty: Please read the UBC Calendar on the subject of academic regulations and the University’s policies on plagiarism.

✦ Students must retain a copy of all work submitted in case of loss or if the need for a Review of Assigned Standing arises (See Academic Regulations, UBC Calendar). Students have the right to view their marked examinations with their instructor, providing they apply to do so within a month of receiving their final grades. This review is for pedagogic purposes. The examination remains the property of the university.

✦ Students with ability/disability issues are encouraged to inform the instructor of these issues at the beginning of the course so that appropriate accommodations can be made for them. The University accommodates students with disabilities who have registered with the Disability Resource Centre.

✦ The University accommodates students whose religious obligations conflict with attendance, submitting assignments, or completing scheduled tests and examinations.
Please let your instructor know in advance, preferably in the first week of class, if you will require any accommodation on these grounds.

Students who plan to be absent for varsity athletics, family obligations, or other similar commitments, cannot assume they will be accommodated, and should discuss their commitments with the instructor before the drop date.

Late Assignments: Extensions are granted only in cases of personal illness or family issues and not because of academic workload or conflicts. Extensions must be requested in advance of the due date of the assignment.

Participation is expected of all students beyond simple attendance. Students are expected to read all of the assigned readings before every class and to come to class prepared to discuss the material.

Students who use electronic devices to aid in their learning process (e.g. laptop computers) must have the permission of the instructor to use the device and, if permission is granted, must have the wireless capacity of the device turned off.

All cell phones must be turned off.

ASSIGNMENTS

Submitting Assignments - Assignments should be submitted by email to the instructor

Return of marked student assignments - The instructor will mark assignments on-line (with track changes) and return to the student on-line.
